

Message to all Aichi residents
Calling for preparation for the approaching Typhoon No. 10 (Shanshan)

Typhoon No. 10 (Shanshan) is expected to approach the Tokai region around September 1st to 2nd. It is necessary to be vigilant against potential risks such as landslides, flooding in lowland areas, the rise and overflow of rivers, high waves, and strong winds.

We kindly ask all Aichi residents to stay informed about evacuation information provided by your local municipalities and to evacuate before the rain and wind intensify, preferably during daylight hours. Please make necessary preparations in advance for early evacuation.

Please stay updated with the latest typhoon information and take necessary measures against heavy rain, strong winds, and high waves in advance.

There is a possibility of transportation disruptions. Please check for relevant information and allow ample time for your activities.

Please refrain from approaching dangerous areas such as swollen rivers and irrigation channels for any reason.
