【Other Exceptional Circumstances】

- For guardians who are not subject to inhabitant taxation by a municipality in Japan due to reasons such as residing overseas, eligibility for the subsidy shall be determined by the ICT Education Promotion Division based on total household income, including overseas income for the period from January to December 2025. In cases where income significantly decreases after returning to Japan, the determination shall be made based on the reduced income.

- Among recipients of survivors' pensions, disability pensions, or similar benefits, households that are eligible for the Child Rearing Allowance but are not receiving it (due to receiving such pensions) shall apply under the category of single-parent households. In place of documents confirming receipt of the Child Rearing Allowance, the determination shall be made based on the following three documents: a family register (koseki tohon), a Certificate of Residence, and a Taxation Certificate.

- If the required documents cannot be obtained due to the above circumstances or other reasons, please contact the ICT Education Promotion Division.
